Recruitment & Retention Update

The Association has recently sent a member update on the ongoing Social Work Recruitment and Retention Strategy.

The 5-year Strategy (2023-2028), led by the NBASW, brings together individuals from various government departments, health authorities, schools of social work, colleges, unions, and more in implementing the various goals and actions identified to ensure there are enough social workers in the province to meet the needs of citizens, both now and for years to come.

A survey was recently sent to members to track the effectiveness of the Strategy's first year, and we would like to thank all members who responded for your valuable feedback, which will help the long-term implementation of the Strategy's 87 initiatives.

Social Work Census

Make your voice heard by partaking in an unprecedented profession-wide study: the Social Work Census!

The census is an online survey that will help build a more inclusive picture of who today's social workers are and what they do. The census is composed of two parts: a robust workforce study of the social work profession and an analysis of social work practice to be used in developing competence assessments for social work licensing.

We believe the Social Work Census will amplify diverse voices and experiences and ensure the profession is ready to meet the challenges and opportunities of the future.

ASWB has committed to donating up to $ 100,000 to support 13 non-profit organizations. Once the census completed, every participant can choose 1 of 13 organizations to donate $ 1.00 to.

The survey takes around 20 minutes to complete and will remain open until June 30, 2024.

PARTICIPATE IN THE CENSUS

To be entered in the dues reimbursement draw (up to a $ 409 value each), please click on the link below to submit your certificate of completion, and we will draw 3 winners after the survey closes.

SUBMIT YOUR CERTIFICATE OF COMPLETION

Additionally, members who participate in the census can count this time (2 hours) towards their Continuing Professional Education (CPE) hours.

Thank you to all who have already participated in the Census!

Social Work Month Recap

CASW & Webinars

Earlier this year, the Canadian Association of Social Workers released its new Code of Ethics. National Social Work Month was a chance to celebrate the unifying values outlined in the Code. A series of bilingual webinars, co-presented by NBASW Executive Director, Miguel LeBlanc, describing each value was held for all CASW members.

Additionally, NBASW held 2 English webinars and 1 French webinar during the month of March, including:

- Relationships Matter: Examining the pathways to supportive long-term relationships for youth 'aging out' of care
- Les relations comptent : Examiner les voies menant à des relations de soutien à long terme pour les jeunes pris en charge qui font la transition vers la vie adulte
- I think my Client might have OCD: How to Identify Symptoms of OCD and What to Do Next

All webinars are accessible on the CASW English and French webinar pages.

Wellness Contest

During the month of March, in celebration of Social Work Month, we hosted a Wellness Contest for all members! Congratulations to the winners:

- Cassandra Ackerson
- Karine Pelletier
- Kristine LeBlanc
- Linda-Anne Hébert

Members across the province participated in self-care and wellness activities. Social workers are essential to the well-being of our communities, and we were so happy to see everyone fitting some self-care into their days.

Thank you to everyone who participated! We hope you continue to find time to incorporate wellness, daily.

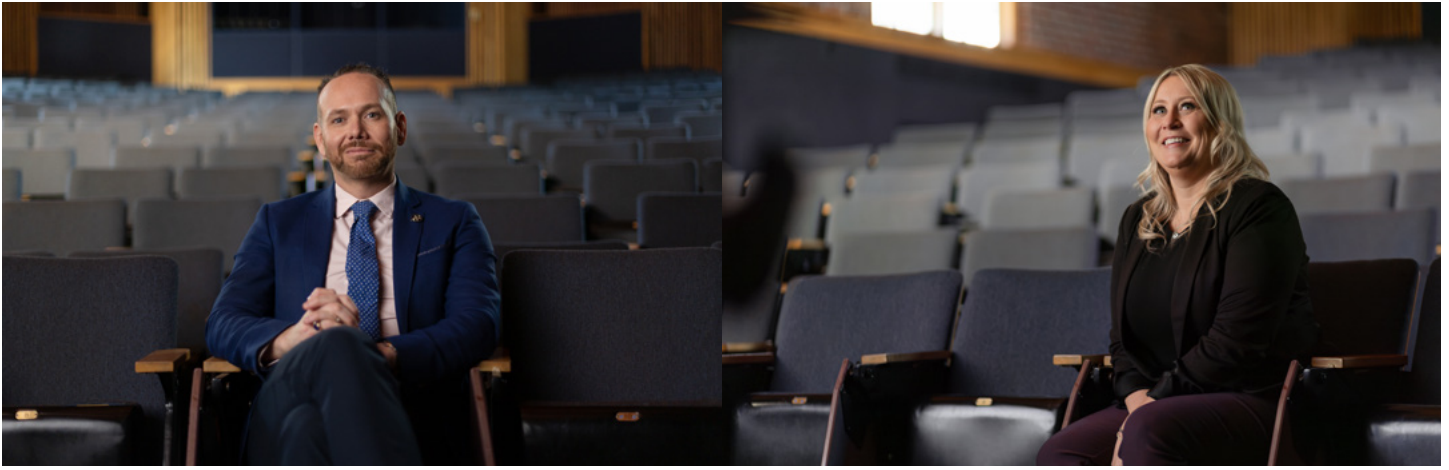

Child Protection Social Work Campaign

The NBASW, in collaboration with the Department of Social Development and Union CUPE 1418, released a public campaign during National Social Work Month. The campaign shines a light on child protection social worker's positive impacts in New Brunswick.

Child protection social workers remain overlooked and undervalued despite their profound impact on the lives of children and families. This campaign aims to challenge misconceptions, reminding people that child protection social workers may not receive the same visibility as other front-line workers, but their work is equally lifesaving and important.

This is what inspired the campaign's centrepiece; the 'Who Saved Me' concept, a social experiment where New Brunswickers were asked to listen to stories of children saved from various situations and guess which of the five people (a child protection social worker, firefighter, police officer, paramedic, and surgeon) saved the child.

In addition to this social experiment, child protection social workers Annie Mallet & Trevor Breen each tell us about the realities and misconceptions surrounding child protection social work and why they love this profession. We were delighted to receive positive echoes from jurisdictions across Canada, the United States, and across the pond in the UK!

Thank you to everyone who collaborated on this campaign and to everyone who helped share this important message.

Summary of Recent Disciplinary Notice

2024-03-04

A Hearing of the Discipline Committee of the New Brunswick Association of Social Workers was held on March 4, 2024 to hear and determine a Complaint against a Member alleging professional misconduct. Specifically, the Member is alleged of not maintaining appropriate professional boundaries throughout the course of the professional relationship and making inappropriate comments of a sexual nature to a client.

By Voluntary Submission, the Member voluntarily admitted professional misconduct and concurred that disciplinary sanction was appropriate.

Following a determination that the Member was guilty of professional misconduct, the Discipline Committee imposed the following discipline sanctions:

1. Written reprimand to be placed in the Member's file for an unlimited period of time;
2. Payment of a fine of $2,000.00;
3. Payment of cost of $1,000.00;
4. One assignment in the form of continuing education; and
5. Summary and publication of the proceeding without names for the education of the membership.

Wellness Resource: Sleep Hygiene

Sleep hygiene is crucial for maintaining good sleep quality and overall well-being. It involves adopting habits and practices that promote healthy sleep patterns.

Good sleep hygiene can help individuals fall asleep faster, stay asleep longer, and wake up feeling refreshed. It also contributes to improved physical health, cognitive function, mood regulation, and daytime performance. By prioritizing sleep hygiene, individuals can reduce the risk of sleep disorders and other health issues associated with poor sleep.

Further, sleep hygiene is vital in the profession of social work because it directly impacts the ability to provide effective care and support to clients. Social workers often deal with complex and emotionally demanding situations that require clarity of mind, empathy, and problem-solving skills.

Poor sleep hygiene can lead to fatigue, decreased cognitive function, irritability, and burnout, which can hinder a social worker's ability to perform their duties effectively and ethically.

By prioritizing good sleep habits, social workers can maintain their mental and emotional well-being, sustain their capacity to empathize and communicate effectively with clients, and ultimately deliver high-quality care.

PROTECTING YOURSELF AGAINST IDENTITY FRAUD

Identity theft is a rapidly growing crime that can impact every facet of our lives. Identity thieves will look for your name, date of birth, address, credit card number, passport, Social Insurance Number (SIN) and other personal information to take over your bank accounts or open new ones, apply for credit cards, redirect mail, and even get a job.

Here's how you can reduce your risk of identity theft:
